Name	#	Inventory	Category	Trait	Usage?
Smith's Tools	1	Tools	When rolling to repair medium or heavy armor, roll 1d8 instead of 1d6.	1d12
Torches	1	Adventuring Gear	Illuminates with bright light up to distance Near, and dim light up to distance Far (sight checks with disadvantage). 1 hour per usage (in real-life playing time).	1d20
Rope	1	Adventuring Gear	When fastened, allows characters to climb up/down a up to a Far distance (Str. checks with advantage).	1d10
Bedroll	1	Adventuring Gear	Wherever you are, your character can sleep in relative comfort. Whenever the party rests, you choose an extra resting dice to roll.	-
Candles, Timed	1	Gadgets	This set of candles has been carefully crafted to burn for exact increments. These can be used to tell time when the other timers we take for granted aren't available. Additionally, they can be used to rig timed devices.	1d8
Crowbar	1	Tools	A rugged metal rod with a hook on one end. Grants advantage on Str. checks to clear rubble, pry open mundane doors and containers, and perform similar tasks.	-
Climber's Kit	1	Tools	A collection of ropes, fasteners, pitons, and other useful odds and ends that are essential to safely scaling obstacles. Grants advantage on Str. and Agi. checks while climbing, and can be used to lay down a route for the rest of the party.	1d8
Waterskin	1	Adventuring Gear	Allows a character to carry enough water to sate the party for 2 days, should they be planning a trip where water may be hard to come by.	-
Shovel	1	Tools	A sturdy two-handed shovel, granting the user advantage on checks to dig and cover holes.	-
Fishing Kit	1	Tools	A fishing rod with some line and tackle. Grants characters advantage on gathering food from viable water sources.	1d10
Surgeon's Tools	1	Tools	The bare necessities for a medic to perform simple operations. Allows characters to make checks to heal minor lingering injuries. When the party rests, the user may make a Wis. check (DC 11). On a success, everyone may roll an additional d6 to add to their Health.	1d12
Ink Vial & Pen	1	Miscellaneous	Allows characters to write and draw on permissive surfaces, such as paper, skin, bark, etc.	1d8
Map (Regional)	1	Miscellaneous	Grants party advantage to navigate a particular region of the world, moving by landmarks, roadsigns, and town names.	-
Map (Known World)	1	Miscellaneous	Can be reviewed while planning journeys for 1d4 pieces of insight from the GM.	-
Fire Blanket	1	Gadgets	This blanket was built to snuff out fire. Can be used (if in Conflict, as an action) to extinguish an ignited character or to stomp out a flaming section of terrain.	1d10
Tinderbox	1	Adventuring Gear	Some dry tinder with flint and steel, this can be used to start a fire quickly and easily.	1d8
Magnifying Glass	1	Gadgets	A large lense with a little wooden handle. Grants advantage on checks to inspect objects with fine details. Can also be used to focus sunlight to start a fire on some dry tinder.	-
Lantern	1	Adventuring Gear	A metal frame with a wick to a fuel source, this latern functions just like a torch (bright light out to distance Near, dim light out to distance Far). Weather effects and spells that would extinguish torches have distadvantage to extinguish lanterns. This lantern can be thrown at an area up to distance Far to explode and quickly light foes and terrain on fire (destroying the lantern).	-
Lantern, Hooded	1	Adventuring Gear	Much like a typical lantern, but with more metal shielding. This lantern cannot be extinguished by weather effects and spells. It cannot be thrown as a quick bomb (it's too sturdy and well-engineered). The shielding can be lowered to dim the flame without extinguishing it, and can be focused to cast bright light in a cone up to distance Far, and dim light out to distance Distant.	-
Lantern Fuel	1	Adventuring Gear	A fuel source based on the local market; oil, paraffin, blubber, etc. Roll usage die every time you light a lantern and for every two hours (in real life) that the lantern is lit.	1d20
Sewing Kit	1	Tools	When rolling to repair light armor, roll 1d8 instead of 1d6. Can also be used to repair other fabrics, such as clothes, tents, bedrolls, etc.	1d12
Lockpicks	1	Tools	Grants advantage on Wis. and Agi. checks to crack safes, unlock doors and chests, and bypass similar forms of security.	1d12
Grappling Hook	1	Adventuring Gear	Can be affixed to the end of a rope (see: Rope) and thrown to scale cliffs and span chasms, making a Str. check (variable DC based on the distance).	-
Telescope	1	Gadgets	A fine, collapsible metal tube with several lenses. Can be used to observe very distant sights, and grants advantage on checks to scan great distances.	-
Chalk	1	Miscellaneous	A small cloth bag full of white sticks of chalk. Chalk can be used to write draw on rigid surfaces, such as wood, stone, and metal. If a ritual requires a sigil to be drawn or a similar mark to be made, chalk will do the trick. Washes aways easily with water.	1d10
Acid	1	Miscellaneous	A jar of ferocious-looking liquid. Brightly colored and smelling of bile, this acid can be thrown on opponents to great effect (2d8 poison, 1d4 continuous). Alternatively, this acid is potent enough to dismantle many things. The longer you wait, the more it can chew through.	1d6
Alchemist's Fire	1	Gadgets	An unassuming but potent jar of dangerous liquid. When ignited, alchemist's fire burns blue and coats surfaces. It cannot be extinguished by water, and therefore cannot be washed off. It burns without oxygen, and therefore canont be snuffed out except by magical means.	1d6
Antivenom	1	Miscellaneous	Cures one poison affecting a character.	1d6
Block and Tackle	2	Gadgets	A rope and pulley system. While bulky and time-consuming to set up, this mechanism allows characters to lift and pull twice as much weight as they otherwise could.	-
Book	1	Miscellaneous	A book! Could be any genre, any topic. Literate characters can use books during downtime to research and read for pleasure. Reading for pleasure for a sufficient amount of time reduces stress by one level.	-
Ball Bearings	1	Miscellaneous	A black back full of smooth metal spheres. When cast on the ground, they scatter over a small area creating a highly potent slipping threat. Creatures that walk over scattered ball bearings must succeed on an Agility saving throw (DC 15) or fall prone.	1d12
Caltrops	1	Miscellaneous	A black bag full of spiked metal pyramids. No matter how they fall, a barbed point is facing up. Stepping on caltrops deals 1d6 piercing damage and halves movement speed until healed.	1d12
Chain	2	Tools	A thick metal chain, useful for restraining heavier things that might be able to tear through rope. Can be used like a rope, but is much stronger, and cannot be effectively thrown upwards.	1d10
Alchemy Kit	1	Tools	Everything an alchemist out in the field might need for a quick concoction. These tools can be used as a substitute for a proper alchemy station when on the go.	1d12
Holy Water	1	Miscellaneous	A vial of clear liquid, blessed by a ranking member of the local religion (or from wherever it was acquired). One's mileage may vary with this water, but it will harm and turn most lesser undead and demons.	1d8
Hunting Trap	2	Gadgets	A bulky, cruel contraption of metal springs and blades. Not very subtle on its own, this trap can be covered and hidden to great effect. This trap is triggered by stepping on it, causing two massive jaws to clamp and gouge the unfortunate soul that stumbled into it. Being caught by this trap deals 4d6 piercing damage and grants a lingering injury, Mangled Leg.	-

Name	#	Inventory	Category	Trait	Usage?
Lock	1	Tools	A mundane lock in a style of your choosing. Can be placed on chests and doors to secure them against opportunistic thieves and intruders. Determined or talented assailants will still likely be able to break through this line of defence. Comes with a matching key.	-
Manacles	1	Tools	Some good old fashioned handcuffs. Very uncomfortable and hard to break, these can be placed on the arms or legs of creatures that have hands and feet, functionally rendering either set of appendages useless.	-
Oil	1	Miscellaneous	Slippery and combustible, this oil can be used to coat an area, making it slippery terrain (Agility save DC 15). Can be ignited easily and cannot be extinguished with water.	1d8
Poison, Basic	1	Miscellaneous	A simple poison causing an effect of your desire. This poison is not subtle, and can be detected in food or drink, but perhaps not before it is too late.	1d8
Weighing Scales	2	Gadgets	A scale with a set of weights. Can be used to double check the math of merchants with heavy thumbs. When used in bartering, this weighing scale grants a free re-roll of barter dice.	-
Whistle	1	Miscellaneous	A loud, shrill whistle. This sound pierces through all terrains and across great distances.	-
Vial	1	Miscellaneous	An empty vail, waiting to be filled with whatever thing of interest you come across in your travels.	-
Hand Mirror	1	Tools	A little mirror with a round wooden handle. Can be used tactfully to see around or over obstructions.	-
Animal Trap	2	Gadgets	A small metal trap that can be used to trap animals no larger than a badger.	-
Loaded Dice	1	Miscellaneous	A set of weighted dice. Others might think you're gambling, but you know the result before you've cast them. The longer you play with the same people, the more they'll suspect you of cheating.	-
Holy Symbol	1	Miscellaneous	A religious symbol. Spending down time praying over this symbol can reduce stress for an appropriately pious character.	-
Tent	1	Adventuring Gear	A nice little tent to shield you from the elements. This tent occupies as many inventory slots as individuals it can accomodate.	-
Whetstone	1	Tools	This stone can be used by trained individuals to hone their weapons. In the hands of an amateur, however, it is sure only to cause damage to otherwise fine weapons.	-
Truth Serum	1	Miscellaneous	A subtle, clear poison that, when ingested, loosens the chains around even the most tightly guarded secrets. This doesn't make subjects any kinder or more pliant, merely more honest.	1d4
Poison, Subtle	1	Miscellaneous	This poison is clear and tasteless, but no less potent than its basic counterpart.	1d4
Poison, Virulent	1	Miscellaneous	A powerful poison. Very much detectable, but players are invited to be much more imaginative of the effects its victims may suffer.	1d4
Flash Bombs	1	Technology	Small black bombs that produce enough light to blind someone (DC 15 Agility save).	1d6
Lode Boots	2	Technology	Heavy boots with lodestone soles. Though not very maneuverable, they cling to metal like a spider to a wall.	-
Flares	1	Technology	Bright burning sticks of alchemist's fire. Much less violent that its less refined liquid form.	1d6
Smoke Bombs	1	Technology	Little black canisters that vomit smoke in great quantities when lit. This smoke can quickly fill a room, heavily obscuring the vision of all inside.	1d6
Handheld Drill	2	Technology	A small drill with a coaxial hand crank. Can punch through almost anything when given enough time.	-
Motion Sensor	1	Technology	This special stone vibrates and glows when someone (or something) moves near it. Great for avoiding ambushes when resting.	-
Flash Camera	2	Technology	A big box camera that relies on special alchemical exposure plates to snatch an image that is true to life.	-
Sleeping Gas	1	Technology	A smoke bomb with special gas in it. When opened, it quickly spreads and puts its subjects into a deep slumber. Just be careful not to breathe it yourself!	1d6
Rebreather	1	Technology	A special mask that recycles the air you breathe. Good for when you don't want to get caught in smoke, or want to spend longer than usual under water.	-
Luminous Paint	1	Technology	This special paint glows in the dark!	1d8
Welding Torch	1	Technology	A scorching hot torch with some special metal filament. This can quickly bind two metal objects together, creating a nearly unbreakable bond.	1d12
Thermal Goggles	1	Technology	A special pair of goggles that can see heat instead of light.	-
Sky-Seeking Stone	1	Technology	A special enchanted stone on a tether. When attuned, it allows the wearer to levitate as though they were dandelion seed on the wind. Just be sure not to let go of it.	-